Uncle Dan Gets Contract

The Postoffice Department has awarded the contract for carrying the mails from Wrangell to West Coast points to the Uncle Dan. As announced in The Sentinel some time ago, an omission had occurred in the contract signed by Captain Rastad; the stop at Tokeen having been left out. The department thought that the call should be made at Tokeen at the same rate per mile that the contract called for for the entire run, but the offer was refused by Capt. Rastad, so the award was made to the present mail boat. The Uncle Dan had been on the run for some time and has given general satisfaction to all concerned.

Some Fine Marble

On their latest prospecting trip Messrs. Lowery & Woodbridge made what promises to be a good find. It consists of some exceptionally fine specimens of colored marble. They have worked down and polished some of the pieces, all of which show up well.

The Bear Was Handicapped

Strange stories of the presence of a big, black bear on the slide above the water reservoir have been in circulation around the town this week. It appears that "Jack" Worden was out Sunday taking pictures. The thought occurred to him that a fine view of the town and surrounding country could be secured from the top of the mountain above the dam. Up and up he climbed, through brush, over and under logs, dodging devil clubs and falling rocks, and then just as he was sitting down to rest before tackling the last stage of the climb all thoughts of pictures and everything else were blotted out of his mind by the sight of a bear. Jack says that both he and the bear started to run at the same time, but that he beat the bear out on the last lap because, in rolling down the slide, the weight of the camera which he had slung on his back, so accelerated his speed that Bruin having no camera was distanced and ruled out of the money by the judges.

Preparing For Celebration

As suggested in last week's Sentinel, the business men of Wrangell got together last Monday evening to consider ways and means for an appropriate celebration of the Nation's Birthday, July 4th, at Wrangell. Mayor P. C. McCormack was the choice of the meeting for chairman, while J. E. Worden was elected scribe. After a general discussion it was decided that we celebrate, and J. G. Grant F. Matheson and J. H. Wheeler were appointed the committee to have general charge of the celebration, especially the collection of the wherewithal to make it possible. Then the question of the advisability of making arrangements for the transportation of the West Coast folk to town to help in the celebration was talked over, the prevailing idea being that if it were possible we should make some effort along that line, and the probabilities are that the Uncle Dan will be secured to bring them over at least from as far south as Marble Island. The committee was also instructed to do its utmost to get the Shakan band to come over and help us celebrate.

The committee stated at the meeting that they would get busy right away and ascertain how much cash they could figure on, so that they could make their calculations accordingly.

Fishing Season Begins

The Kelly arrived over from Shakan Sunday, bringing over the Demmert boys and their families. They report that the Shakan Salmon company expected to start the first seine boats out this week, looking for fish. The cannery is in shape now to handle fish, and expects to put up a big pack.

Have The Band Ready

Fred Willson, manager of the local sawmill, was a passenger to the Sound on a recent boat. The Sentinel was unable to discover just what it was that took him south, but the boys at the mill say that he will come back a Benedict. Which ever way it is here's hoping that he will have a pleasant trip.

Work on the Miles building, between Matheson's and the Old Pioneer building has been begun. Mr. Miles has secured a lease on a portion of the wharf between the freight warehouse and the Wrangell hotel and will erect a curio store thereon.

Wrangell Has New Marshal

Sunday's boat, the Cottage City, brought a change in Wrangell's official life, J. F. Collins to succeed Al. J. Lowe as United States deputy marshal. Monday morning the former took the oath of office, and has since been at the helm. Mr. Collins needs no introduction to the people of Wrangell, having been a resident of the town for a number of years, prior to his removal to the Sound, a couple of years or so ago. He has appointed "Billy" Hood as his assistant.

Forest Officials Here

The cruiser Tahn of the Forest Service made port Sunday, and left for northern points the next day. Forest Supervisor Langille, of Ketchikan was in charge, while with him was G. H. Cecil, associate district forester, of District 6, who is making a tour of inspection of the territory under his direction, which comprises Oregon, Washington and Alaska.

The Cottage City was in such a big hurry to get away Sunday that the officers forgot to have the fifteen minute whistle blown, and as the result, Mail Clerk Andrews was left in the postoffice when she pulled out from the wharf. Failing to catch the steamer with the cannery tender Mr. Andrews chartered the Kelly and overtook her at Petersburg.

Good Time--No Bear

Leo McCormack and Bert Foot returned from their hunting trip up river Monday afternoon. They report that they were unable to locate any of the bears for which the territory around "Little" Andrew's place is noted; but they had a very pleasant time. They say that the Black Fox was making good time on its way up the river to Telegraph when last heard of, having reached a point 15 miles above the boundary by Sunday morning.

Al Spader returned to the Sound on the last Humboldt. He will remain south for some little time.

UP TO THEIR OLD TRICKS

And now it appears that Wickersham and his Juneau satalite, Emery Valentine, would appear in a new light, and constitute themselves the "Regular Republicans of Alaska." To this end, they recently sent out notices to the faithful calling on them to elect delegates, but to send proxies instead of such delegates, to Valentine at Juneau.

This paper has not received a copy of the "call," so it has to depend on what appears in the columns of the Wickersham organs. According to them fifty delegates are to be allowed each of the four judicial districts, irrespective of the number of votes the districts may have cast in the last or any other election for the party ticket. The wisdom and justice of such apportionment is clearly illustrated in the representation allowed our sister town of Ketchikan, well known as a Wickersham stronghold. In the last election Ketchikan cast less than a score of votes for the regular Republican nominee, so according to the Miner of that place, the newly created "regular Republicans" decide that that town is entitled to eight delegates at the coming convention, and at that they would have us believe that the men behind the move are Republicans. Republicans indeed—they don't know what the word means. Wickersham a Republican, think of the absurdity of the claim. Wickersham was afraid to come out before the last Republican convention because he knew he had absolutely no show of being named as the choice of the party.

This year, after blowing hot and cold, one day saying he wouldn't run, the next that he would, he at last is compelled to come out into the open, and again nominate himself for the office, realizing just as surely as he did two years ago that he stands no better chance for the party nomination now than he did then.

And so it is that he and his Man Friday, Valentine, in the absence of those at the head of the party in this district, and seeing the writing on the wall that if Wickersham would hope for any standing at the national capital he must go at least with the appearance of being a party candidate, hatched this plot to pull the wool down over the eyes of the Republicans of Alaska.

"President Taft is the first president of the United States to appoint an Alaskan to an Alaskan office, and during his incumbency he already has let out four 'carpetbaggers.' Of the seven Alaskan appointments made by this administration, six of them were Al-kans of more than four years' residence, and one was a judge from the Pacific coast who had been in Alaska and had a good idea of the country's conditions. The officers I refer to are United States Marshals Harvey Sullivan; Daniel A. Sutherland and T. C. Powell, District Attorney C. D. Murane and District Judges Thomas R. Lyons, Peter Overfield and E. E. Cushman. The last named is a Washington resident, while all the others are bona fide Alaskans."—Attorney Fink of Nome.

Oak Olson Married

Oak Olson, one of the most popular of the traveling men making Juneau their headquarters, was married last week at Houghton, Wash., to Miss Sophie Johnson of Grand Rapids, Mich. The wedding took place at the home of Mr. Olson's mother. The wedding ends a match of long standing—one that originated "years and years ago," as Oak put it this morning. Mr. and Mrs. Olsen came to Juneau on the Princess Royal and have gone to housekeeping in the Mark Russell home. The Record believes there is not any one in this section who will fail to wish "Oak" well in his married life.—Record.

The Unuk River Dredging company is going to work the famous gold bearing gravel of Unuk river this summer.

Twenty-five applications for positions in the public schools at Cordova have been received by the board so far.

Seward and Valdez want a land office located somewhere in the westward—each town believes it should be located somewhere in its own limits.

Four cases of leprosy are said to have been discovered by Dr. Romig in westward Alaska and the government is going to isolate them.

Webster's NEW INTERNATIONAL DICTIONARY, (G. & C. Merriam Co., Springfield, Mass.) surpasses the old International as much as that book exceeded its predecessor. On the old foundation a new superstructure has been built. The reconstruction has been carried on through many years by a large force of trained workers, under the supervision of Dr. W. T. Harris, former United States Commissioner of Education, and reinforced by many eminent specialists. The definitions have been rearranged and amplified. The number of terms defined has been more than doubled. The etymology, synonyms, pronunciation, have received unspare scholarly labor. The language of English literature for over seven centuries, the terminology of the arts and sciences, and the every-day speech of street, shop, and household, are presented with fullness and clearness. In size of vocabulary, in richness of general information, and in convenience of consultation, the book sets a new mark in lexicography.

The tug William Jolliffe was towing her.—Miner.

Off To Inspect

U. S. Steamboat Inspectors F. H. Newhall and Captain George H. Whitney and their clerk, R. C. Hurley, left on the Bertha for Cordova to commence their summer campaign of inspecting the steam vessels of the westward. The trip to the westward is made annually by the inspectors and formerly embraced Nome and the Yukon district. In 1906 the district was divided and a board of inspectors created at St. Michaels. Captain Whitney has been making the annual trip since 1898 and Mr. Newhall since 1905. The principal ports which the inspectors will work out of during the summer are Cordova, Seward, Ellamar, Port Graham, Kodiak, Seldovia and Nushagak. They will return to Southeastern Alaska in the fall.
